Spiti Arias is a very comfortable holiday villa just a few minutes walking from the port. The inhabitants of Hydra have decided not to have any cars on the island, so each way is measured in "minutes walking". The island has some lovely beaches; water taxis are on hand at the port to take one there. The holiday home's extraordinary tasteful interior design, the high quality of the furniture and fabrics and the artificial decoration are stunning. Breathtaking views of the Saronic Gulf and the charming "chora" of Hydra will create a desire of never wanting to leave from here again. The house is built on three levels.

The upper entrance leads to the spacious lounge and the kitchen, which both have French doors opening to a terrace. Internal stairs give access to the bedrooms in the attic. There are two more bedrooms with ensuite bathrooms located at the pool level. Both bedrooms only have access via the pool deck, but no internal connection to the other rooms. All the terraces are well equipped with teak furnitures and sun loungers. Service of 3 hours 3 times per week is included in the rental price. Upon prior notice and supplemental costs extra service can be arranged.
